

LANE TUTORING SERVICE: COLLEGE PREPARATORY SERVICES

SAT and ACT Mastery Sessions:

- Provide 7 hours of thorough, focused, and friendly instruction in a one-on-one setting.
- Review the essential mathematics, reading, grammar, and writing skills.
- Teach a variety of “point-gaining” strategies specific to the exam and the student’s skills.
- Provide individualized, realistic direction and quality materials for home practice.
- Build confidence and calm in the test-taker.
- Are designed for focused students who are intent on improving scores.

Quality SAT or ACT preparation begins with a practice exam that is analyzed to locate where points are, and are not, being scored. Students are expected to study 30-45 minutes daily for 4 to 8 weeks.

Instructor: Joshua Hirschstein has advised students on the transition from high school to college for over 30 years. He began his career as a high-school English and history teacher, and began teaching SAT and ACT preparation in 1984. He taught and tutored in Seattle and Kathmandu before earning an M.A. in Writing Education at UC Berkeley. Since 1990, has owned and directed Lane Tutoring Service, Inc. in Eugene. Joshua and his wife Maren have two children: Ari, a 2015 graduate of Earlham College, and Zall, a 2018 graduate of Bard College.

Workshop: Take Charge of the College Admissions Process

Joshua Hirschstein invites a college-bound student and parents for a two hour workshop that provides information, guidance, perspective, and momentum for the competitive college selection and admissions processes. We will address:

- How does one research and gain admittance to the best college options? What makes a "good match"?
- What do colleges seek in applicants, and what can applicants reasonably do to be more attractive?
- How much should the student steer the selection/admissions processes, and when should parents or others step in?
- Should students take the SAT or ACT? How vital is the score? What is attractive to colleges in the admissions essay?
- How does "financial reality" impact the process, and what other local and on-line resources are available?

Recommended for juniors and sophomores.

Fee: $135.00

One-on-one college admissions coaching: $55/hr
